

Artist Ben Kinmont on Experimenting With What Art Can Be, Antiquarian Bookselling, Economic Precarity, Artists' Contracts & More, par Warfare of Art & Law Podcast, Season 3 Episode 87, 1:02:53, Oct 09, 2022

CLIQUEZ-ICI POUR ÉCOUTER

The screenshot shows the website for 'Warfare of Art & Law'. The navigation bar includes 'HOME', 'EPISODES', 'ABOUT', 'BE A WARFARE SUBSCRIBER', 'SAMPLE BOX', and 'MORE'. The main content area features a podcast player for the episode 'Artist Ben Kinmont on Experimenting With What Art Can Be, Antiquarian Bookselling, Economic Precarity, Artists' Contracts & More'. The player includes a play button, a waveform, and a progress bar showing 00:00:00 / 01:02:53. Below the player is a list of other episodes:

Episode Title	Duration
Artist Ben Kinmont on Experimenting With What Art Can Be, Antiquarian Bookselling, Economic Precarity, Artists' Contracts & More	1:02:53
2ND Saturday Bonus: Artist & Attorney Stefania Sales Bruins on the Issue of Removing Cultural Heritage from Its Homeland	2:00
Glance at Culture - Ella Nowicki on Incarceration, Art and Defining Justice in Terms of Accountability	1:02:44
Scrivener's Gazette Bonus - Artist Elfriede Lohse-Wächtler	4:58
ASU Art Museum Director Miki Garcia On Art's Power to Address Inherited Notions About Mass Incarceration, the Undoing Time Exhibition, and Justice As Public Love	43:04