

2 Minutes

5 exhibitions to see in October | London

ottobre 15, 2017

Giulia Ponzano

Torbjørn Rødland — The Touch That Made You

Serpentine Sackler Gallery — 29 September 2017 - 19 November 2017

Rødland's exhibition The Touch That Made You presents a selection of photographs from the past two decades, a mix of portraits, still life and landscapes, which appear to us simultaneously foreign and familiar, lyrical and humorous. Rødland draws attention to the constructed nature and the tactility of the analog image and creates works which moves from concrete to abstract, open to the potential of unexpected outcomes. Although he photographs everything from a 'distant' eye, his aim is to provoke tangible responses. As he explained: "I'd like the viewer to react to my prints as self-conscious and slightly paranoid bodies, not just as a pair of eyes,".

— Torbjørn Rødland, Trichotillomania, 2010, Private Collection