Torbjørn Rødland: The Touch That Made You

Art, Photography  Serpentine Gallery, Knightsbridge  Until Sunday November 19 2017

Simultaneously beautiful and disturbing, the photographs of Norway-born Torbjørn Rødland pay with our expectations of seemingly everyday scenes and objects. Straightforward shots are disrupted through the addition of details that are sometimes playful but often strange: a child biting in to an apple studded with coins, locks of hair sprinkled over some otherwise juicy looking oranges.
